THE HUNGER OF OUR HEARTS

The philosopher, the poet, the historian and the man in the street remorselessly repeat the refrain, the world is ill, desperately ill.

What are the symptoms of this ailment? There are many. The most common is man blaming his failures, his lack of responsibility, his questionable integrity on the world. The world is sick, he says and thereby justifies his sins.

A second symptom is to be found among those who diligently search for the short-cuts in life. Eagerly they seek ready-made formulae, cultural pills, which will direct them from poverty to wealth, from desperation to happiness or from ignorance to enlightenment. They would reach out for culture rather than dig for it, purchase inspiration rather than discover it. The world is sick, they say, and accordingly take the 10-easy-lesson plan towards personal salvation.

There is yet another symptom. It is a loss of faith in the endeavors of the inspired men of all generations. It is an attempt to negate the hard-won victories of our civilization in the knowledge that the battle is only begun. "Of what use is it all," is the cry. Man is chained to his tears.

Our sacred tradition, that very tradition which bids us assemble on these High Holy Days, rejects the attempt made by man to excuse his failures and imperfections with a psychosomatic illness attributed to the universe. It is an old cry, says Toynbee, "whenever things go awry, we tend to accuse the enemy of having sown tares in our field and thereby implicitly excuse ourselves for the faults in our own husbandry."

The world is not ill. True there is an illness abroad in the land. It is not an illness of the world, nor is it an illness of all who man the world. It is the very thought that man carries with him that the world is ill which is deleterious in its growth and devastating in its effect.

"Ye stand, all of you, before the Lord your G-d this day", our scripture reads. "All of you", say our rabbis, suggests that if there be one among us who is righteous, all of us share in that deed of righteousness. If there be one among us who has sinned, all of us assume the responsibility for that sin.

Our tradition, unsatisfied with merely suggesting the interdependence of man, instructs him in his relationship with the world. In our ancient writings man is told: "The day is short; the work is great. It is not incumbent upon you to perfect the world, but neither are you free to refrain from working toward perfection." We are part of the world — as much a part as the star-studded heavens and the rushing sea, the climbing vine and the chirping bird. The world cannot be accepted nor rejected; it is. We either live in harmony with it, as Schweitzer suggests, "World and life affirmation urges men to serve society in lively hope of realizable progress," or we place ourselves in variance with it.

How profound and exciting is it then for us to gather together on these our sacred days, children with their dreams, lonely ones with their memories — to consider the circumstances of their lives so that those who are imprisoned by their daily tasks may preserve their spiritual lives.

How profound and exciting it is to be alive. To search, to hope, to grasp, to discover oneself through vision and reason and faith and in some small measure create a portion of righteousness, of kindness, laughter and enlightenment for mankind. This is our prayer, the longing, the hunger of our hearts.

L'shanah tovah tikatevu.

ROSH HASHANAH
September 26 and 27
SHABBAT SHUVAH
September 28
YOM KIPPUR
October 5

Wednesday evening at sunset, Jews the world over will usher in Rosh Hashanah and will mark the inception of the Jewish New Year 5718 in a solemn and reverent manner. Rosh Hashanah begins the Ten Days of Penitence which culminate in the fasting and in the religious services of Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement.

This year, Rosh Hashanah begins at sundown on Wednesday evening,

September 25 and ends after sundown on Friday, September 27. The Hebrew calendar records the beginning of the Holy Day as the first of Tishre, 5718. Yom Kippur begins at sundown, Friday, October 4 and ends after sundown on Saturday, October 5.

Emphasizing especially man's ability for self conquest and for return to the path of salvation, Rosh Hashanah also proclaims God's Sovereignty over the Universe and the lives of men and nations. It is during this "Day of Judgment" when the Lord, "like a shepherd causes the souls of his flock to pass before him," that all men are urged to review their deeds of the past year and to pray for His forgiveness. This message gives the holiday a universal motif.

VAAD PRESIDENT EXTENDS NEW YEAR'S GREETINGS

Hyman Soloway, Q.C.

We approach the New Year 5718 at a time when Jewish life everywhere is in the process of modification and change because of local and international influences. It is a time for thoughtful planning and a unity of purpose in our communal way of life.

In this respect, we in Ottawa have been fortunate. The past year calls to mind significant advances in Synagogue growth, support for the State of Israel, maintenance of high standards of Jewish education and progress in our institutional building programs. There is acceptance of mutual co-responsibility and a respectful approach to administering our affairs.

In all these things, the Vaad Ha'ir and its member groups are grateful for the support which is always forthcoming.

Much, however, remains to be done, and we will have to bring our total resources to bear in the weeks and months ahead if we are to achieve the objectives we have set for ourselves.

It is with these thoughts in mind that my colleagues join me in wishing you and your loved ones every happiness in the coming year, and the health and strength to reach our goal. L'Shana Tovah Tikatevu.

HYMAN SOLOWAY.

PROPHECY, HISTORY AND PREACHMENT

At the High Holiday season we hope and pray for improvement in all things. The more intrepid, at every New Year, attempt to predict the course of the next year — usually a disappointing endeavor. Yet prophecy has its place, and as the inheritors of the people who developed and cultivated prophecy to its highest stage, we may wonder whether prophecy is confined to the pages of the Bible.

The Biblical prophecies have been carried out, almost to their smallest detail, by the vicissitudes of our people. The prophets (the news analysts of their day, but with far keener insight) from Moses to Daniel warned the people of Israel that violation of the moral code would bring national destruction and dispersion. Whether or not we can uncover the exact cause and effect relationship between the two, the brute historic fact remains that personal morality and national ethical climate affect national fate. Somehow or other, no matter what the policies of the kings and other rulers had been, national calamity resulted when the Sabbath was violated, when worship of a spiritual God was replaced by the worship of the god of prosperity (Baal), when excess profits were accumulated by the owners of land in Judea. There are intimations in the writings of Plato the Greek and Sallust, the Roman, that similar failings paved the way for the downfall of other empires than our own.

Our prophetic role, implied in the idea of "chosenness", continues to this day — in its reciprocal aspects of moral preaching and national fate. For ourselves, the abandonment of even apparently purposeless ritual has led to the disappearance of Jewish communities. For the outside world, both the fate of Jewish communities among the minorities and the fate of the State of Israel among the nations serve as barometers of current decency and of prophetic warning.

The first time that the authority of the UN was challenged by force was the invasion of UN sponsored Israel by the Arab League nations. If the world powers, especially England and the United States, had demonstrated then, when it would have been easy to do so, that all aggression would be stopped, North Korea and its allies would have thought twice before invading South Korea.

The first threat to navigation through the Suez was levelled against Israel many years ago, while Britain was still in control. If the Western Powers had demonstrated then, when it would have been easy to do so, that the Suez must remain open to all nations, Egypt would have thought twice before trying to interfere with the Canal.

It is painful to serve as a prophet, whether to one nation or to the world. That has been our role in times past as today.

As we blazed the trail in social justice, as we first developed the idea of national conscience and responsibility, as we first showed the world, by the wounds on our own body, the results of injustice in world politics, is it too much to wonder whether we are still trail blazers, — whether our insistence on equal responsibility under the law for all levels of society, — whether our formula for proper spiritual rejuvenation through a complete day of rest, — whether our insistence that spiritual values and considerations take precedence over financial, artistic, and "sociability" considerations, — whether our entire religion may be prophetic and far ahead of the times even today?

Only the future can tell, a future which begins with Rosh Hashanah, when we are called back to a fuller Jewish life, when we resolve to live more closely in accordance with our ideals during the coming year.

May we all have the health, strength, resolve, and courage to continue in the appointed role of our people.

RABBI SAMUEL M. BURSTEIN.

A significant milestone in the history of the Ottawa Jewish Community was reached on Tuesday evening, September 17 when Congregation Beth Shalom was formally dedicated in the presence of hundreds of members and friends.

SUCCOTH OBSERVED OCTOBER 10 TO 18

The Festival of Succoth begins on the evening of the 15th day of Tishre, corresponding this year to Wednesday evening, October 9. It is observed for nine days of which the first two and last two days are full holidays and the intervening days half holidays.

Referred to also as the Festival of Booths or Tabernacles, Succoth is a reminder of the forty years wandering of the children of Israel in the wilderness after their deliverance from Egyptian bondage. During that time they were compelled to live in tents or building booths wherever they stopped.

The succah or booth is a little tabernacle built of wood or canvass and is covered with branches of trees and plants so that the heavens and the stars are visible overhead.

In ancient Palestine, the festival was celebrated by giving thanks to the Almighty for the bounties of the land. The Pilgrim Fathers in America after they had gathered in their harvest set aside a day which they called Thanksgiving. Steeped in the knowledge of the Bible they based their thanksgiving day on the Festival of Succoth.

The eighth day of the festival (Thursday, October 17) is called Shemini Atzereth (the Eighth Day of Solemn Assembly). On that day the Scroll of Ecclesiastes is read to remind people of the transient character of life, memorial services for the departed are recited, and a prayer is offered so that the earth may produce bountiful crops next year.

The ninth day, Simchas Torah is the most joyous day of the festival as it marks the annual completion and commencement of the reading of the Law in the Synagogue.

Rabbi Simon L. Eckstein will officiate at Congregation Beth Shalom on the First and Eighth Day; at Congregation B'nai Jacob on the Second Day and at Congregation Mackzikei Hadath on the Ninth Day.

Rabbi Samuel M. Burstein will officiate at all Services at Congregation Agudath Israel.

ANNOUNCE CENTRE CAMPAIGN TO COMPLETE BALANCE OF PROJECT

An intensive campaign for $500,000. to construct the Central and West End Talmud Torah buildings and to complete the Gymnasium was approved at the Annual General Meeting of Contributors to the Synagogue and Jewish Community Centre according to word received from its Board of Directors.

The drive which will be known as "The Community Centre Completion Campaign" is scheduled for the months of November and December, 1957. Pledges will be payable over a five-year period.

Total community resources will be mobilized to raise the estimated amount required to complete the project which began in 1943 and which has made significant progress since that time.

Preliminary plans have already been made to capitalize on the city-wide appeal which the campaign is expected to generate. Five main divisions are in the organization stage and many more people are to be involved in the work. Further details will be announced as soon as plans are crystallized.

Full text of the resolution approved by the contributors on June 25 follows:

"Whereas it is estimated that $500,000. will be required to complete the whole building project comprising Central and West End Talmud Torah buildings and the Gymnasium,

And Whereas the organization is under a direct debt of $100,000. and a contingent liability of $150,000.

Be it resolved that the Board of Directors be authorized to:

1. Plan and conduct an intensive campaign during the months of November and December, 1957 with a five-year pledge repayment schedule, for the purpose of raising sufficient funds to construct the whole building project.

2. Devise ways and means of financing the said construction having regard to the results of the campaign and the debt which may exist at the end of the current fiscal year.

3. Upon conclusion of the campaign and before making any commitments for construction, and in any event not later than January 31, 1958, to convene a Special General Meeting of Contributors for the purpose of reviewing the results of the campaign, the financial situation at that date and determining the course of future action.

OUTSTANDING GESTURE MADE BY MR. & MRS. ABRAHAM SHAFFER

On the occasion of the celebration of their 50th Wedding Anniversary last June 26, Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Shaffer made an outstanding gesture on behalf of the Ottawa Jewish Home for the Aged.

The Shaffers who were hosts at a large reception for their many friends and relatives made it known that they would prefer not to receive any personal gifts and suggested that contributions be made to the Home for the Aged.

To date almost Four Thousand Dollars has been received by the Home for the Aged as gifts in honour of the Shaffers. While these contributions are being applied to the Site Purchasing Fund, it is planned to commemorate this generous gesture of the Shaffers in a suitable manner in the Home when it is built in the not too distant future.

J. N. F. CERTIFICATES APT WAY TO MARK HAPPY OCCASIONS

The Jewish National Fund Council of Ottawa wishes to bring to the attention of the community that there are numerous occasions which can be appropriately marked by the presentation of J. N. F. certificates.

In each case, a beautifully inscribed certificate is issued. It is the hope of the Ottawa committee that J. N. F. certificates will become a part of every happy occasion in the lives of members of this community.

PHILOSOPHY STUDY GROUP SUCCESSFUL

Initiated last year to meet a demand for searching inquiries into basic philosophic issues as propounded by leading Jewish thinkers through the centuries, the Study Group has enjoyed a steady attendance at the informal meetings held twice monthly at private homes of the members.

During the year, 13 meetings were held with an attendance of 18 members or more.

In summarizing the year's program at the closing meeting, Mrs. Nathan Dreskin stated: "There is a more positive influence in our thinking motivated by the lecture series. It has encouraged us to make room in our daily lives for the deeper values of Judaism".

Rabbi Burstein who had been delivering the lectures was made the recipient of the book "Illustrations To The Old Testament" by Marc Chagall.

Information concerning the current series can be obtained from Mrs. Nathan Dreskin at PA 8-6346.
